

ENGINEERING

Reunert names Kathan as CFO

Finance:
Mark Kathan will become Reunert's CFO on April 1. He is a chartered accountant with a Harvard Business School advanced management programme certificate.
/Freddy Mavunda/File

Jacqueline Mackenzie
Companies Reporter

Reunert has appointed Mark Kathan as CFO with the retirement of Nick Thomson.

Kathan will join Reunert on March 1 and assume duties as CFO on April 1. Thomson's retirement was announced in November. Kathan is a chartered accountant (SA) with an advanced management programme certificate from Harvard Business School.

He was the CFO of AECI from 2008 to 2022, and an AECI board member from 2008 to 2023. Before joining AECI, he served in several senior financial roles at Nampak. Reunert said that Thomson would retire as group CFO at the end of March and from the board at the end of September. During this period, he would support Kathan in his new role and assist with the execution of various projects.

The board thanked Thomson for making himself available to ensure a smooth succession process.

"Reunert benefited greatly from Nick's extensive financial and commercial experience, insightful leadership, and his commitment to the group," said the board.

"During his tenure, Nick has been instrumental to the group, successfully delivering on its strategic and operational objectives."

mackenziej@arena.africa